

CRM adoption checklist

Making the system part of daily work after launch.

Adoption fails for predictable reasons. These six habits prevent most of them.

- 1 Define what each pipeline stage means and what must be true before a record moves
- 2 Give every lead, deal, and customer a clear owner
- 3 Test the setup with the people who will use it before launch
- 4 Run team reviews and forecasting from the CRM itself
- 5 Track a small set of adoption signals and investigate the gaps
- 6 Name an owner for feedback, fixes, documentation, and future changes
- 7 Managers work from the CRM in every review, not a private spreadsheet
- 8 Small points of friction are logged and resolved, not worked around

If reviews still run from spreadsheets, the team learns the CRM is optional.
